PARIS, August 10 .- A report of the Belgian committee investigating violations of international law, issued here by the Belgian legation, is devoted to instances of alleged violations by the Germans of article 52 of the fourth Hague convention governing the laws and customs of land and warfare. Examples cited cover alleged German attempts, first, by offering wages as high as 20 marks (about $5) a day and finally by force, to compel Belgian civilians to work in arsenals, on rail ways used for military purposes and in wire factories. The report gives de-tails of alleged violations at Luttre, Malines and Swevedhem and quotes the text of an order declared to have been signed by Lieut, Gen. Count von

"The attitude of certain factories which under the pretext of patriotism, relying on The Hague coavention, refuse to work for the German army, proves that among the population there is an inclination to raise difficulties for the description.

"So Often Arrested."

This story of a visit to the Italian war zone will necessarily lack detail. One reason is that I was so often arrested. I so often had to flee before the secret police "picked me up," all points of journalistic interest were so closely good luck that any information whatever was obtained. Another reason is that I saw some few things—a few places-by the kindness of Italians who had lived in America, and, therefore did not regard a reporter as a spy But these things cannot be printed for the present, in order that my hosts may To summarize, then, the Italian army is as good an army as Italy can produce in ten months of effort. Its artillery is especially good. It has an abundant supply of ammunition. Its shooting is remarkable, when it is considered that few of these officers had ever sighted a field gun ten months ago. An especial feature is its hill climban especial feature is its him climb-ing machinery. Great motors with spurred wheels, geared to a low speed, are constructed for the purpose of climbing almost any grade a horse can mount. When the summit of the hill is help haul the monster up on a moun-

"Our greatest losses have been incur red during these operations," said an artillery officer. "The Austrians are intrenched on top of all these hills. They have ascertained the range to a meter. When our men are bunched they play a machine gun on them as one would turn a hose upon a dusty street. Sometimes a shell strikes a hillclimbing motor, and it races backware nto the throng waiting in the valle below. We are gaining ground stead-ily. But Italy will weep for years when

Trenches of Concrete.

Officers who have seen the captured Austrian trenches say that they are the strongest fortifications ever built. They have the advantage of position for the most part. The Austrians have been building them for ten months. They are so lined with concrete and counter braced by steel rods that the walls do not crumble when the T. N. T. shells hurst near them. They must be his fairly to shatter the walls. A trench merely dug in the earth caves in under the tremendous concussion of the high explosives bursting within twenty

Some of these trenches have been ex cavated in the everlasting stone of th hills. They never offer more than a hairbreadth target to the Italian gun ters. They are taken from time to time because the Italian has not yet learned that bitter lesson the other armies chieved months ago-that of econom men. These gallant youngsters, few whom have ever seen an enemy be ore, go gladly forward to death. Some times they accomplish this purpose. Always they pay the bill.
"To show the care with which the Austrians prepared their defenses," said an officer, "at a distance of 500 yards one can plainly see the barbed wire of their entanglements through the glasses. That is an evidence of the unusual thickness of the wire. It is almost impossible to cut the wire by artillery fire. Tons of shells have been wasted on a short stretch without effect. We but a short stretch without effect. We believe this uncommon hardness of the wire is because it is made of vanadium steel. This steel must have been procured in America. We had ten months cured in America. We had ten mont to get ready in, but so had Austria."

Venice Bombarded Four Times. Another proof of Austrian preparation is to be found in the bombs they are continually dropping from aeroplanes on Italian troops and cities. No word has ever been printed in Italy, but it is still the fact that Venice has been bombarded four times from the sky. Most of the shells fell harmlessly in the water. But when one did land "Proof," said an eyewitness, "These are the most wonderful aerial bombs ever seen. They not only destroy the bouse they hit, but they knock down the two houses on either side. It is thought they carry from eighteen to twenty kilogrammes of T. N. T. That would be fifty pounds of the most powerful explosive known, and the craft which sailed over Venice each drawned from four to eight house. "So dropped from four to eight bombs. To appreciate the destruction reported—although I was in Venice I did not see the houses which had been hit—it is to be remembered that aerial bombs have been considered rather contemptible hereto'ore; also that a Venetian pala-zo is built heavily of stone. zo is built heavily of stone.

These facts are not known to the Italian people because of the incredibly rigid censorship of the press. No foreign correspondents are permitted with the army. There are Italian correspondents assigned to the army, but they are rarely shown anything. I doubt if any have ever seen any real fighting. The only news published is that of victories

"Another battle, in which our gallant troops inflicted great loss upon the enemy" is al standard form of report. The truth probably is—no one knows in detail what the truth is—that the Italians have lost more heavily by far than the Austrians. They have taken four or five passes and several peaks. They have not even dented the Austrian line of defense as yet. They have fought magnificently—incredibly well for green troops—but their gains have been small. Where they seem to have advanced a considerable distance on the map the Austrian defense has been mere flea-biting. No real fighting is "Another battle, in which our gallant

But the public is cheerful and optimistic, because few realize the truth, and those who dimly sense it acquiesce in the government policy of suppression. Nothing has been printed of the trian fleet shelled three, if not four, towns on the Adriatic coast. The fact that Bari was bombarded from aeroplanes only became known through the protest of the Pope, as reported in the Italian papers, against this treatment of an open town. More than 400 houses were looted in Milan in the anti-German riots of June, and officers of the Italian army looked idly on at the rioting, while men in uniform joined in it. But no word has ever been printed in Italy of these facts. Even the papers of Milan were silent.

The people dimly realize that a truth ful picture is not being presented by the Italian papers. It is not possible for them to get the truth elsewhere, wall bore the painted legend, "The rev-
